Holiday Problems

Last month we decided to drive to Scotland for a	0v.....
few days, for a short holiday. We were the really	00 ...the looking it forward to a quiet rest in the country.	1
Unfortunately, a lots of things went wrong. First	2 of all, the car was broke down iust after we had left	3
home, and we had to phone a garage and then	4
wait by the side of the road for hours ago. By the	5
time the car had been repaired, it was too much late	6 to go on, so we went the home. The next day we set	7
off more earlier to avoid the traffic, but we'd forgotten	8 that it was a public holiday. We after decided	9
to take a different road and look for a hotel.	10

Line number

1 Most Americans and British people would agree that it is good manners to be 2 punctual for an appointment. Arriving on time for formal events such as a business
3 meeting or an interview is considered important. Many people try to arrive a few 4 minutes early for an appointment to avoid the risk of rushing in at the last minute.
5 Even in less formal situations people are generally expected to think about the 6 person they are meeting and not to keep them waiting unnecessarily. People are 7 also expected to arrive on time for social events, especially weddings. Traditionally, 8 only the bride is allowed to be late.

9 People are generally more relaxed about the time when arriving for more informal 10 social occasions. When meeting a friend for lunch at a restaurant, people try to 11 arrive at the time arranged, or no more than five minutes late. If they are later than 12 this, the person they are meeting will start to think they are not going to come at all.
13 However, when invited to dinner in somebody's home it is actually considered 14 polite to arrive a few minutes late. Under no circumstances should guests arrive 15 early. Some formal invitations to dinner may say 'seven for seven-thirty', meaning 16 that guests should arrive any time after 7 p.m. in order to be at table at 7.30 p.m. At 17 a party, however, people may arrive an hour or more after the start time written on 18 the invitation. If somebody arrives later, they are expected to apologize. Depending 19 on the circumstances and how late they are, people may say, "Sorry to have kept 20 you waiting'. If they are very late, they may feel obliged to give an explanation
21 as well, e.g. "I'm sorry I'm so late, but the traffic was bad."

22 People expect concerts, plays, etc. to start at the time advertised, and if they are

23 kept waiting a long time they may start a slow handclap to show that they are 24 impatient. But anyone who arrives late for a show may not be allowed in until there 25 is a convenient break in the performance. People also expect public transport to 26 depart and arrive on time and get very frustrated if delays are frequent. Most people 27 do not like being kept waiting without good reason.

1 According to Paragraph 1, lines 1-8,

- a. many people try to rush in at the last minute
- b. traditionally people are allowed to be late only for wedding
- c. people must arrive a few minutes early for an appointment
- d. it's essential to arrive on time for formal events

2. According to the text,

- a. people are generally more concerned about the time arriving for more informal social occasions.
- b. people don't worry much about the time when arriving for more formal social occasions.
- c. when invited to dinner in somebody's home it is considered polite to arrive a few minutes early.
- d. when meeting a friend for lunch at a restaurant you can arrive no more than five minutes late.

3. According to the text, it is bad manners

- a. to clap before a performance
- b. to keep people waiting unnecessarily
- c. to arrive early for an appointment
- d. to arrive on time for social events

4. The sentence 'Most people do not like being kept waiting without good reason' means that

- a. being kept waiting, people expect a reasonable explanation
- b. people are never kept waiting without good reason
- c. most people don't keep others waiting without good reason
- d. most people have good reason to keep others waiting

- 5. Frequent delays of public transport
- a. irritate people
 - b. hardly bother anybody
 - c. never annoy anybody
 - d. make people patient
- 6. According to the text, people may arrive a little late for
- a. concerts
 - b. plays
 - c. formal events
 - d. informal receptions
- 7. The text is mainly about
- a. table manners
 - b. American traditions
 - c. punctuality
 - d. speech etiquette

Text 2: Read the text carefully and mark or circle T if the answer is true, and F if the answer is false, and N/G if the answer is not given.

Study problems – help is here

Ask E-tutor

Hi! I'm E-tutor, or Emma. I'm here to help with any study-related problems, whether big or small.

Post a message on the forum below.

Meg

What should I say to my sister?

Hi, E-tutor. Unfortunately, I share a bedroom and a desk with my elder sister. She continually distracts me because she's noisy and disorganised. I think she's disrespectful. I've got exams in a fortnight and I desperately need to revise. I can't concentrate when she's studying too and the desk is always overflowing with stuff so I can't find anything. If I try to have a dialogue with my sister, she gets annoyed. Can you help?

E-tutor

Re: What should I say to my sister?

Hi, Meg. That's a common complaint between siblings. Why don't you discuss a rota system so that you use the desk at different times? Or maybe you could study at the local library, cultural centre or community centre a few days a week. Make sure you've got storage space for everything on your desk: folders and containers for your paper and stationery. If everything has its own place, it will be easier to keep orderly. It might even be enjoyable to do this together. If it's easier to write instead of talking face to face, try messaging her and explain how awful you feel.

Rudy

Against the clock

My problem is time – or lack of it! Next month I've got 12 exams in three weeks. How can I possibly study for all of them? It's complicated. I think it's impossible.

E-tutor

Re: Against the clock

Hi, Rudy. It isn't impossible but you DO have to get started NOW. Make a study plan and highlight periods of study time for each subject. Make a detailed plan for this week and then do the same for the weeks ahead. It's better to study for an hour or so a day than just once a week, all day. Your brain needs time to process information.

Hayley

Disaster

My problem is silly and a bit embarrassing. I just find it hard to study. I always stop and start and I keep getting the impression that I'm learning the wrong things. I'm a disaster. I don't think you can really help me.

E-tutor

Re: Disaster

Hayley, your problem isn't silly at all! It's very real and lots of people experience the same thing as you. Sometimes things improve if they join a study group. Set up a group and meet a couple of days a week after school to study together. Take turns to give presentations and teach other what you know. It's called 'peer teaching' and is an effective and efficient practice for lots of students.
